SIERRA MADRE FAMILY ENJOYS LIFE IN FAR-OFF BORNEO

An interesting letter has just been received by Fred C. Herrmann of 493 North Auburn avenue from Leonard L. Wammock, a long time resident of Sierra Madre, now of far off Borneo.

Mr. Wammock wishes his friends here to know that his wife and daughter Dorothy and himself are in the best of health and that Miss Dorothy is engaged to a very nice Australian gentleman. He reports further that he receives the Sierra Madre News promptly every week and is much interested in the happenings of their hometown.

Mr. Wammock is an expert operator for the Shell Oil company and he is the only American driller in their service. He speaks all being English, Irish, Scotch and Dutch. He has seven coolies in his crew. It is a new field, five miles long and lies along the beach. All the good wells are in the ocean and are 6000 feet deep. Each well is good for about 600 tons, eight barrels

Greater Fire Protection Assured

Sierra Madre Signs Contract With Cities Of Arcadia And Monrovia

Sierra Madre is bound now to a tri-city fire protection agreement with Arcadia and Monrovia. The city council Tuesday evening authorized Mayor Schiltz to sign a contract for the mutual protection of the three municipalities.

Under the provisions of the contract Arcadia will call upon Monrovia department for assistance in the event of a fire getting beyond control of the Arcadia fire department and Sierra Madre will be required to move part of its men and equipment to Monrovia to protect that city while its men and equipment are absent.

In the event of a fire here that Sierra Madre's department finds itself unable to cope with, it will call upon the Arcadia department and Monrovia will move part of its equipment to Arcadia to protect that city. Under like conditions Monrovia would call upon Arcadia and it would be up to the Sierra Madre department to protect Arcadia.

No extra compensation is provided for any of the cities or their departments. The contract expires June 30, 1939. It has been under consideration for a year.

The city council held under advisement pending an investigation a recommendation from Fire Chief W. D. Richards that Sierra Madre adopt the Pacific Coast building code.

Beautiful New Home Nears Completion

One of the most beautiful homes in the San Gabriel Valley is rapidly nearing completion. Remodeling and redecorating of the Lynn ranch home on South Baldwin avenue, was begun early this spring when the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. L. Whitson, former New Jerseyites, decided they would like to locate in Sierra Madre. Partitions within the home have been removed allowing greater floor space. Nestled within a 10½ acre orange grove the view from each room in the house is incomparable. Glimpses of the blue Pacific to the South and West and Mount Wilson to the North are possible from this magnificent estate. Orange trees have been removed from the front of the home to permit a wider view, and landscaping of the grounds. The Whitsons will move into the rebuilt old ranch house when the finishing touches now being put on are completed.

Laidlaw Feted On Retirement From Gas Co's Employ

James Laidlaw, 169 North Lima street, Sierra Madre, was one of the five honored guests at a banquet given last night by employees of the Southern California Gas Company in Pasadena to commemorate the retirement of the five men from the company's service. Over 100 people were present at the festivities, which were marked by the presentation of a remembrance gift to each of the retiring men.

Laidlaw has been employed in the Pasadena district of the gas company for the past 15 years. He is one of the 30 people in the organization who retire on September 1 under the company's uniform pension and benefit plan. This is the largest number who have ever been retired at any one time under this pension system, which was put into effect in 1932. Today, 205 people have enjoyed pension retirement benefits.

The climate is wonderful, Mr. Wammock writes. A light blanket is needed every night. A few hours of rain at a time comes quickly and gone as suddenly. The coolies are not allowed to work during the rain and so there is a lot of idle time. He admits proud ownership of a new Ford V8.

Mr. Wammock closes his letter with his best wishes to all his friends and acquaintances and says "I'll be seeing you all in less than three years."

Police Rescue Man "Treed" On Fence By Watch Dogs

Two watch dogs kept A. J. Lynn, a salesman of 625 Manzanita avenue, on top of a six-foot fence in West Orange Grove avenue Thursday afternoon. A Doberman pincer and a German shepherd dog lay on either side of the driveway and refused to let Mr. Lynn descend from his safety perch, but a radio call received by Chief of Police G. G. McMillan brought help. The chief drove the dogs into the backyard and distracted their attention while Mr. Lynn climbed down from the fence and jumped into the police car. Mr. McMillan then drove him to his parked car. The occupants of the house were away, it was learned.

FIVE SIERRA MADRE NAMES TO APPEAR ON PRIMARY BALLOTS

Names of five Sierra Madrens will appear on the primary election ballots next Tuesday. William J. Colligan is one of 10 candidates for county assessor.

Thomas A. Reynolds seeks the Democratic assembly nomination from this district. Lester K. Layton is a candidate for Republican County Central Committee in the district, and seeking seats in the Democratic County Central Committee are Craig McLaughlin, popular son of Mrs. J. H. Robertson, former president of the Women's Club, and Leland Fogg.

There are two distinct Democratic slates and the Democratic voters have received all kinds of marked ballots and campaign literature. Craig McLaughlin is on the slate on which the name of Reynolds appears as the assembly candidate. Mr. Fogg is on the slate headed by Leslie H. Preston, assembly candidate opposing Reynolds. The Democratic factional differences begin with the senatorial and gubernatorial candidates and extend on down into every office to be filled including the county and central committees.

An organization of progressive young Democrats has been formed to support McLaughlin, regardless of the factional political lines.

Installation Brilliant Affair

National And State Notables See Legion And Auxiliary Heads Inducted

Sierra Madre's American Legion post and Auxiliary were signally honored at the joint installation of their new officers at Wistaria Vine Gardens last night when more than a dozen high ranking officers of the organizations in State and National in the impressive induction ceremony. It was a brilliant affair, splendidly staged in magnificent setting afforded by the grand old vine and was preceded by a superbly arranged dinner given in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Helene Smith, new president of the Auxiliary, for which more than a hundred covers were laid.

Seated at beautifully decorated tables on the Garden terraces were officers of many Southland Legion and Auxiliary units in addition to the State and National officers and those who will occupy important positions in the approaching National convention in Los Angeles. Red gladioli, white sweet peas and blue cornflowers decorated the tables and the Gardens were brilliantly lighted.

With First National Vice-Commander Salvatore "Cappy" Capodice in the seat of honor, A. L. "Wimpy" Reddick, Legion County Council Commander commissioned the new Legion officials, assisted by the champion Alhambra Auxiliary drill team which lent a lot of color to the proceedings that were witnessed by more than two hundred persons.

The new officers installed were Norman Jensen, commander; Henry J. Mitchell, first vice-commander; Gordon P. Felts, second vice-commander; Phillip P. Linville, chaplain; G. R. Lovejoy, post adjutant; Ray O. Calkin, historian; and William Cronin, sergeant-at-arms, with Sam Grapick, W. H. Schwartz, Roy Pickett, Will P. Clement and A. H. Embree members of the executive board.

Auxiliary officers were installed by Mrs. Martha Decker, past-president of the department of California, and general chairman for the national convention. Those installed were Mrs. Helene Smith, president; Mrs. Helen Lovejoy, first vice-president; Lovetta Pratt, second vice-president; Mrs. Maybelle Barker, secretary; Mrs. Sylvia Quittner, treasurer; Mrs. Hattie Lumpkin, chaplain; Mrs. Lucille Pickett, sergeant-at-arms, and Mrs. Lee S. High, marshal. The executive board included Mesdames Edith Woodruff, Bertha Irvine and Dollie Hill.

After the installation, Mrs. Helen Lovejoy presented a diamond pin to Mrs. Grace Jensen, retiring President. At this point the gavel was turned over to President Helene Smith who introduced her distinguished guests and conducted the remainder of the program, which consisted of an inspiring talk on "Americanism" by Dr. Charles W. Decker, former Los Angeles County health officer; original readings by Mme. Jessie Ward Haywood, noted poet interpreter of New York, and a group of songs by Norman Lind, Swedish-American tenor who was accompanied by Dr. Frederick Haywood, voice instructor to the music faculty of the University of California at Berkeley. Mrs. W. J. Lawless was introduced following an expression of sincere appreciation of the group for her generous hospitality by officers of both organizations.

Among visiting Legion and Auxiliary officials, past and present, at the dinner party, were "Cappy" Capodice, Dr. Charles W. Preston. They are on opposite factional slates.

Four candidates are seeking the Republican nomination as the successor of the late Frank G. Martin. This nomination is believed to be between T. Benton Knight, endorsed by the Republican Assembly and Jesse R. Swan, an attorney, with Knight believed to have the lead.

The supervisory contest in the 1st district, with 17 contenders, is interesting. Politicians are attempting to get a line on the eleventh hour situation in Long Beach before attempting to forecast the result. If Clarence E. Wagner, Long Beach councilman, is able to get anything like solid support from his hometown he will be an outstanding factor though little known in this area.

Frank W. Wright, twice mayor of Whittier and twice elected to the assembly from the Whittier district (William A. Smith, who has served as field secretary to Supervisor Legg for nearly four years; John W. ("Tex") Condon, cattleman and rancher; former supervisor Hugh A. Thatcher of Pomona; Roger P. Dalton of Azusa are considered strong in the valley community and endorsement by some of the Democratic factional chieftains of W. Luther Bailey is expected to bring him well up among the leaders.

The Democratic vote in the district will be divided between five contenders, the bitter factional fight between the McAdoo and anti-McAdoo forces extending in every direction. The best informed political minds believe the nomination lies between Dwight W. Stephenson, John R. Grey, who is also seeking the Progressive nomination and who has large business interests in the San Fernando valley, and Carl Hamblen, a musician who brought into the district hillbilly campaigning methods that swung the governorship of Texas recently and who in the closing days of the campaign appeared to have unlimited financial resources.

The Democratic assembly nomination in the 48th district of which Sierra Madre is a part, lies between Thomas A. Reynolds of this city and Leslie H. Preston. They are on opposite factional slates.

Tour The Nation; Select This As Ideal Home City

After traveling up and down the coast from Berkeley to San Diego, spending six months at Santa Monica and six months at Arcadia, the mountains won, with the result that Dr. and Mrs. Fredrick B. Chase, formerly of St. Louis, have purchased the Ed Grinnell home at 100 East Highland avenue, and intend to make their permanent home in Sierra Madre.

Dr. Chase, a retired dentist, and his wife spent the last four years traveling over the United States in their trailer, but now they have settled down in the city they consider the most ideal they have come across.

Poll Contests Puzzling Politicians

Record Registration And Army Of Candidates May Yield Light Vote

With a record breaking registration and list of candidates for public office—all the makings of a campaign of unprecedented interest and intensity, men long and intimately acquainted with the politics of Los Angeles county hesitate to make predictions on the outcome of many of the contests that will be decided at the primary election of next Tuesday.

Many predict that the number of ballots cast will be proportionately less, instead of more, than at any recent primary contest, notwithstanding the importance of the offices to be filled at the November election. Keen political observers attribute what they believe to be a general apathy to the fact that almost too late, many candidates came to realize that radio was not a good medium of approach to the voters. Accustomed to seeing the faces and reading the names of candidates it is believed that appeals of the lesser known candidates failed to register with the people—that their names would not stick to the public mind and that most of what they had to say over the air went for naught. It is the general impression that because of this better known candidates, those who have been in the public eye and in the public print in recent months have a decided break as against the lesser known candidates.

In the home congressional district, the 11th, there are interesting contests for the congressional nominations of both the Republican and Democratic parties. In the Republican primary the contest is generally regarded as being between Carl Hinshaw of Pasadena and Thomas Watson of Glendale, with the odds decidedly in favor of Hinshaw.

The Democratic vote in the district will be divided between five contenders, the bitter factional fight between the McAdoo and anti-McAdoo forces extending in every direction. Plan Course For New 7th Graders

Training At Grammar School To Compare Favorable With Wilson Jr. High

"Sewing, art and manual training are among the subjects to be taught in the new seventh grade at the Sierra Madre grammar school in September. The course of study for the new grade is in the final stage of preparation and will compare very favorably with that offered at Woodrow Wilson junior high in Pasadena, according to local school officials.

"There will undoubtedly be many additional registrations for the seventh grade early next month by parents who are away on vacation and those who have recently moved here and who did not receive registration cards," said Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal of the grammar school. "We anticipate anywhere from 30 to 35 pupils when school opens on September 12."

The Sierra Madre school tax has not yet been fixed by the Los Angeles county authorities, Edwin Ward, Jr., president of the local school board, said yesterday and the local board has no information on the effect of its efforts to secure a reduction in the local tax for school purposes.

Sierra Madre "Night Flyers" Enter Car In Sunday Race

Sierra Madre will be represented in the automobile race at Harper's Lake Sunday by B. J. Clark of the Central Garage. These unusual dry lake race are arranged by the Southern California Timing Association, and in order to participate the entrant must have made 105 miles an hour. Meetings of the Association are held on the first Monday of each month in Los Angeles when the 30 clubs belonging to the association gather to discuss racing. The Sierra Madre club, the "Night Flyers," meets each Wednesday night at the home of Wayne Morrison. About sixteen local boys belong to the club and practically all of them and a lot of their friends will brave the desert heat to see Sunday's races.

Contest For Justice Job Narrows To Two Candidates

With three candidates for Justice of the Peace of Monrovia township in the field the contest to be decided next Tuesday is really between two aspirants, Judge John A. H. Sturgeon, incumbent, and Cecil L. Lacy of Arcadia. A. L. Oster, also of Arcadia, though his name appears on the ballot, is little known in the district, has made practically no campaign and is not considered a serious contender.

Mr. Lacy, in addition to being a practicing attorney for years, served for several years as secretary of the California State Bar Association and is well known in Sierra Madre where his late brother's family has resided for some years.

Judge Sturgeon has served as Justice of the township for 12 years and has been a practicing attorney for 16 years. He is a law partner of City Attorney Walter F. Dunn and is probably least known in Sierra Madre than in any community in the township, Sierra Madre voting as a part of Monrovia township on Tuesday for the first time. Judge Sturgeon served as municipal judge of Los Angeles from 1931-32 by appointment. He has presided as city judge pro tem on several occasions in Sierra Madre.

In a Social Way

MARRIAGE vows of Miss Geneva C. Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hill, and Frank Haller of Los Angeles were spoken before a fireplace banked with palms and decorated with vari-colored asters at the Hill home, 180 East Sierra Madre Blvd., Friday night, August 19. A huge bouquet of flowers sent by Frank Lloyd, director at Paramount studio, and uncle of the groom, covered the piano.

What A Girl Sees Ramblin' 'Round

IF A MAN had made the inquiry we'd have thought little about it, but when a well known woman dropped into the office yesterday in search of information about the various candidates for superior court we were aghast when she told the purpose of her inquiry. "I want to know the record or attitude of every candidate for judge on the question of divorce," she said, "and surely there must be some information to be had on this most important subject. . . I want to vote for and hope to see the election of some real 'he' judges who have some respect for the marriage vow. Judges all over the country who can be swayed by a face prettily made up or a trim ankle encased in silken hose are making a travesty of marriage, but the very worst offenders are right here in Los Angeles county where the painted movie queens and adventuresses can walk into court and secure a divorce in a few minutes on the flimsiest, nonsensical pretexts. News of these comic opera proceedings are carried over the land and lessen the respect not only for the marriage vow but for all womanhood as well. We need judges with more manhood — more courage. Easy divorces encourage the women of least character to become adventuresses and put all women under suspicion." . . . My word, and was she sincere.

Imagine going into a race track to see one race and having the horse you held a ticket on drop dead on the stretch . . . It not only can, but did happen . . . to P. R. Penn, affable Safeway store manager. Returning with Mrs. Penn from a vacation trip to Boulder dam they swung down to Lake Elsinore for a day, then to San Diego, thinking to enjoy the quick transition from the desert to the sea. Coming up the coast highway at Del Mar they saw the crowd in and about Bing Crosby's race course and decided to stop in for "just one race" . . . The feature event was coming up and the smiling Penn decided to buy a $2 ticket on Sking . . . "He turned cold all right," said Penn, "dropping dead on the stretch" . . . So the Penns came on home . . . cured after that "one race."

SCHOOL PALS TO HEAR INTERESTING TALES

Betty Mai Spillar and her brother, Walton, Jr., will have a lot to tell their friends when school opens about the wonderful sights they saw and the interesting places they visited on an eight-week's vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spillar. It was a business trip for Mr. Spillar but his wife and children had a grand time on their trip up the coast to Oregon. They passed through the Redwoods and visited everything of interest along the way.

When Patients Were Bled . . .

● In the early days of medicine "bleeding" the patient was common practice. Now, instead of extracting blood, the modern surgeon often employs blood transfusions. Thus, continually, old methods are upset; old practices displaced by new and more effective procedures. And in this establishment we seek to keep pace with medical advancement by stocking the newest scientific developments of the leading research laboratories. Thus, we are prepared to fill your Physician's prescription promptly, without alterations or substitutions. Nor do we "bleed" the patient with an excessive charge. Our prices, based on large volume and low overhead, are always fair.

Life is the art of drawing sufficient conclusions from insufficient premises. Samuel Butler.

GIDDY-APPII

ECONOMIST BRANDS $30 A WEEK
PENSION PLAN AS ABSURD; OPERATION ANALYZED

THIRTY DOLLARS every Thursday!" It is an intriguing slogan—an inviting prospect, if you can bury your head in the economic sands and believe it.

And apparently some 700,000 Californians did just that; for 700,000 Californians, according to official reports, signed petitions to submit the $30-a-week pension act to the voters at the November general election.

Never in the history of the State have so many citizens signed petitions for an initiative act as signed up for Thirty Dollars Every Thursday. It is an amazing and startling record—startling in that it means the act will have a good chance of approval at the polls unless voters look before they leap; startling, too, in that the measure, if it becomes a law, will play havoc with the state's financial structure and will start a stampede to California which will double and treble the rush of refugees now crossing our borders.

But perhaps the worst aspect of the new pension craze is that hundreds of thousands of old people who have high hopes of retirement, with a life annuity of $30 per week, will be bitterly disappointed and disillusioned—after parting with hard-earned dollars to finance a movement which is foredoomed to failure.

In the interest of humanity, if not in the interest of state solvency, it is to be hoped that the fallacy of the plan is exposed long before election day and that the act is repudiated at the polls, instead of being invalidated in the courts, or collapsing of its own weight after an unsuccessful attempt to make it work. California organizations can perform more worth while service this year than to advise their members of the unsoundness and utter impossibility of the will-o'-the-wisp program which this initiative contemplates.

Let's take a look at this act with the magic title. If it became effective, all California citizens, 50 years of age or over, and not employed for compensation, would be eligible to receive 30 state-issued one-dollar warrants, or certificates, every Thursday.

Estimates of the number of people in California who would be eligible vary from 700,000 to 900,000, but promoters of the plan estimate that 500,000 persons would accept the pension that big swamp could be combed and tailored into an even passable Eden. But the cricket was there. And you. And the Lord.

HERE we feel we just must quote some lines by Pope, from his Essay on Man. You've read them, of course. "All are but parts of one stupendous whole, Whose body Nature is, and God the soul." The cricket and you and the wide swamp—which still is the world today—great extent, with its submarine snakes back again and its flying dragons. But God the soul! "To him no high," Pope goes on, "no low, no great, no small. . . . We used to think of all this—all of it—nights in the big swamps Down South—as the dark closed in and the crickets began to sing.

TO THINK of all this. And its corollary. As we think of it now. And while we were reading Mrs. Matschat's book and admiring Mr. Key's illustrations. What was that corollary? This. We lived in the Dawn. We lived before Adam. We'll be living still when the sun goes down. Seeing this world glorified. And knowing that "it was good"—just as Moses said God Himself already knew it in the days of Genesis. And before Moses, the cricket. O Cricket! You too ensouled of God! Of you the great Isaiah must have been thinking that time in Judea. Hear him: "Ye shall have a song—as in the night—when a holy solemnity is kept."

Case and Comment

By Charles B. Showalter

(Editor's Note: The opinions expressed herein are those of Mr. Showalter and do not necessarily reflect the attitude or opinions of THE NEWS.)

STUDENTS of history fifty to seventy-five years from now are going to encounter great difficulty and are sure to be exceedingly puzzled in their effort to understand the philosophy of the New Deal. And whether they understand or not, they are bound to put us down as the completest saps of all time.

Their history books will tell them that back in 1932 there flashed across the scene of American public life, like a meteor across the sky, a great leader, one of boundless energy and popularity, who was carried to the heights on a wave of idealism and faith such as the world had never known. Their country was prostrate from an economic disaster, brought on by a great war. People were bewildered, many in want and despair. Here was a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness. His mind seemed to encompass all the wisdom of the ages, and his promises fulfilled all the dreams of all the Utopias of Kingdom come. The people trusted him as no man on earth had ever been trusted before; then imagine their disappointment and disillusionment, when after six years of his leadership, they discovered that his only stock in trade was a golden voice and a vacuous smile.

The first few million pictures of Mr. Roosevelt and his ingratiating grin were well received, but when a few million promises remained unfulfilled the adulation turned sour, and that smile became excessively irritating. Especially when coupled with unwelcome advice from Eleanor and Crown Prince James, also coupled with the same stereotyped grin of all the lesser Roosevelts, which seem to indicate—(coming back to the present tense)—that the laugh is on US. And, by heck, it is. Listen to that golden voice. In a speech at St. Louis, Mo., October 21, 1932, he said: "At the very top of the credit structure of the country, surpassing all other groups in moral and material importance, stand the obligations of the Federal government. These are paramount, because government is essential to all ordered economic life. When they go everything goes. Happily, these obligations are secure. They suffer only to the extent that government is permitted to be extravagant, wasteful or ill-managed. They suffer if the Federal budget is not balanced, and particularly where the deficit of one year is not cleared up in the succeeding year. . . ."

"It is my pledge and promise that this dangerous kind of financing shall be stopped and that rigid governmental economy shall be forced by a stern and unrelenting administration policy of living within our income."

If that isn't a "laugh on us," where would you go to find one? The deficit for this year is approximately four billion dollars, being the sixth successive New Deal deficit, pushing the Federal debt up to an all time high.

There have been ocean waves of oratory about the forgotten man, the ill-housed, ill-clothed, ill-fed, social conscience, social horizons, social frontiers, distribution of incomes, share the wealth, don't let the "peep" down, on the one hand, and Tories economic royalists, princes of privilege, extortionists, robbers of the poor, exploiters of labor, wreckers of the social objectives, on the other. But the real kernel of the New Deal philosophy is,—keep Roosevelt in power. The appeal is to class, for mob action; and the method? A corrupted electorate; purchased with money taken from those who can ill-afford to pay.

Perhaps the most dangerous sophistry emanating from the golden voice is in Mr. Roosevelt's pronouncement promulgating his doctrine that "the government owes every man a living." No more vicious inexactitude could be imagined. What he really means is that the man who works and earns, owes a living to the lazy, the shiftless and the incompetent. And that is so far from the truth that his Satanic Majesty would heartily approve.

For the government has not so much as a thin dime for such purposes except as it is taken in the form of taxes from the man who works and earns. Those on relief, who are on WPA, who are recipients of government largess in any form, should not delude themselves into believing that Roosevelt gave it to them. It doesn't cost him a nickel. He and his family are accumulating millions. The means

To the consternation of growers, California's richly fertile earth has excelled itself in making this summer a banner season for overproduction. Even veteran farmers are hard put to remember a time when so many super-crops have taken it into their heads, or roots, to flourish in one season. Currently, the peach-growers are suffering the worst headache, with a 250,000 ton crop that has sent prices nosediving to levels lower than last year's. Other surpluses are being cut down to manageable size with marketing control, but the peach industry voted thumbs down on such a program recently—and prices struck the skids.

Ninety-eight out of a hundred can't be wrong! And when a cross-section of American merchants' opinion reveals 98 per cent of them have reason to believe September, October, and November, will witness a nationwide swing toward recovery, there is ample indication of increasing improvement. Added to many other heartening beacons on the industrial horizon, with steel production on the advance, thousands of men marching back to jobs in the automobile industry, and homes building retaining its steady pace, the world this week, to American eyes, is en route to better times.

California is preparing to stay the ravages of forest fires with a new weapon of attack, a specially designed plane having an adjustable propeller enabling it to fly low over fires, wing flaps for landing in small areas, bomb signals for accurate dumping of materials and tools, and other novel equipment. If anything testifies to the need of speedy counter-attack against the havoc California's fiery-tongued enemy, it was the 470 fires which already this season have laid waste to 200,000 acres in the northern half of the state. Planes have already been put to test in laying down spray barrages against crop pests, and maneuvered by flying cowboys they have proved their meile in rounding up wild horses. With the U. S. Forest Service now arming itself with a fire-plane, aviation has a chance to earn its spurs in a new field.

New hope for the world of the sightless has sprung to life with the success of several cornea transplanting operations in California within recent weeks. Only the other day two Californians, one blind since 1932, the other for 43 years, gazed again upon a thrilling world ablaze with light and color, their veils of darkness pierced by new and healthy cornea tissue grafted to their sightless eyes. Scarcely less remarkable is the fact that in both cases, the tissue was the

Kiwanis Club Votes To Incorporate; Names Committee

A resolution calling for incorporation of the organization in order to protect the name and purposes of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis club was adopted at Tuesday's luncheon meeting. Roy Pickett and Ray Calkin were appointed to take care of the incorporation.

A. P. Madin of Pasadena, formerly kennelmaster for Mrs. Anita Baldwin at her Foothill Blvd. estate, spoke to the Kiwanians on man's best friend, the dog. Discussing the six different types of dogs, Mr. Madin said the dachshund was the oldest breed, dating back to the eighth century, and in spite of cross breeding through the years, it has remained true to type. Whipping dogs is not a correct punishment, the expert stated. He advocated frightening pets by use of a folded newspaper across their legs.

Stewart Madin, 15 year old son of the speaker, is the youngest dog judge in Pasadena. Love of dogs is natural to him since his father has worked with them for over 40 years.

VACATIONISTS VISIT HOUSE OF MYSTERY

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Scoville of 272 West Grand View avenue and children, Marjorie, Marileen and Edwin, have returned from a three weeks' vacation at Grants Pass, Ore., where they were the guests of relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Scoville were particularly interested in the House of Mystery which is located between Grants Pass and Medford and covers an area of 125 square feet, which is controlled by a strange magnetic force that makes it impossible for one to stand upright, and where all surveying instruments become inaccurate. This area was discovered in 1890 and still remains a mystery to the scientific world.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

A LARGE tank that was once used for a chemical fire fighting fluid on our big Pierce Arrow truck will from now on be used as an emergency water tank. There is sufficient pressure and enough water in the tank to extinguish a good sized fire.

Vern Udell and Art Johnson have put in many hours on the apparatus. The test tonight will tell all. If this new gee-gaw fails to work, there will surely be two much-praised mechanics who will be looking for a place to hide. But if it really works—oh, boy! The firemen's state convention will soon be held at Santa Barbara and some of our boys have their plans all made. This is always a great outing for some of the fellows. They not only hear a lot about fire-fighting, but they have evenings "off" and enjoy them. Sierra Madre has always been well represented at these gatherings. Joe Swanson has held off part of his vacation for this one. He once lived at Santa Barbara, and has a sister and other relatives living there. Now is the most hazardous time of the year for fires. Having been without water for so many weeks, wild plants are extremely dry. The slightest spark can start a big fire. It is requested that every one be careful. Some of our most highly respected citizens have had to be reminded of the danger of open fires.

For outdoor weiner roasts and barbecues a pit with screen should be provided. Sierra Madre, located in a very hazardous location, holds a good reputation for few fires. This is because the fire department and the people co-operate in fire prevention. Let's not take any chances.

REAL SUBSTANCE

Is expressed in the following excerpt from the fine editorial in THE NEWS of August 19th:

A man finds security in owning his own home; something to fall back on in times of stress. He develops a heightening of interest in civic affairs and feels the glowing warmth of community spirit.

In one's own house, habits of thrift and dependability are fostered; there cultural pursuits, study or genial friendships grow and prosper. To own his house gives a man financial standing, a basis of credit, an assurance of stability.

But most of all a house makes a "home" possible; it turns a group of people into a family, gives a man's children the feeling of fundamental family unity, and ties closer the bonds of love and affection.

Yes, there are lots of reasons for owning one's own house. And they're all good reasons. Perhaps that's why so many fine, stable American families these days are availing themselves of this luxury.

Don't pay rent for the rest of your life; pay the same amount monthly for a limited time and own your own home NOW. . . . Let us show you how.

150 AT GARDEN PARTY OF ALTAR SOCIETY

The very attractive home of Mrs. John Hippert, 484 Mariposa avenue, was the setting for the third summer luncheon and card party given by members of St. Rita's Altar Society, Thursday. A delicious luncheon was served to approximately 150 guests in the cool, spacious living rooms and wide veranda. Guests from Pasadena and Los Angeles in addition to local members and friends gathered about the lovely grounds and guest house before settling down to an afternoon of bridge.

Mrs. Agnes Woehler, Mrs. William LaLone, Mrs. Carl Graf and Mrs. Hippert were hostesses at the party.

REAL SUBSTANCE

Is expressed in the following excerpt from the fine editorial in THE NEWS of August 19th:

A man finds security in owning his own home; something to fall back on in times of stress. He develops a heightening of interest in civic affairs and feels the glowing warmth of community spirit.

In one's own house, habits of thrift and dependability are fostered; there cultural pursuits, study or genial friendships grow and prosper. To own his house gives a man financial standing, a basis of credit, an assurance of stability.

But most of all a house makes a "home" possible; it turns a group of people into a family, gives a man's children the feeling of fundamental family unity, and ties closer the bonds of love and affection.

Yes, there are lots of reasons for owning one's own house. And they're all good reasons. Perhaps that's why so many fine, stable American families these days are availing themselves of this luxury.

Don't pay rent for the rest of your life; pay the same amount monthly for a limited time and own your own home NOW. . . . Let us show you how.

When Patients

Were Bled...

● In the early days of medicine
"bleeding" the patient was common practice. Now, instead of extracting blood, the modern surgeon often employs blood transfusions.
Thus, continually, old methods are upset; old practices displaced by new and more effective procedures.
And in this establishment we seek to keep pace with medical advancement by stocking the newest scientific developments of the leading research laboratories. Thus, we are prepared to fill your Physician's prescription promptly, without alterations or substitutions. Nor do we "bleed" the patient with an excessive charge.
Our prices, based on large volume and low overhead, are always fair.
